

Congressional Budget Act Points of Order

Bill Heniff Jr.

Analyst on the Congress and Legislative Process

August 19, 2008

Congressional Research Service

7-5700

www.crs.gov

98-876

CRS Report for Congress

Prepared for Members and Committees of Congress

About TheCapitol.Net

We help you understand Washington and Congress.™

For more than 35 years, TheCapitol.Net and its predecessor, Congressional Quarterly Executive Conferences, have been training professionals from government, military, business, and NGOs on the dynamics and operations of the legislative and executive branches and how to work with them.

Our training and publications include congressional operations, legislative and budget process, communication and advocacy, media and public relations, research, testifying before Congress, legislative drafting, critical thinking and writing, and more.

TheCapitol.Net encompasses a dynamic team of more than 150 faculty members and authors, all of whom are independent subject matter experts and veterans in their fields. Faculty and authors include senior government executives, former members of Congress, Hill and agency staff, editors and journalists, lobbyists, lawyers, nonprofit executives, and scholars.

We have worked with hundreds of clients across the country to develop and produce a wide variety of custom, on-site training programs.

All courses, seminars, and workshops can be tailored to align with your organization's educational objectives and presented on-site at your location.

TheCapitol.Net is on the GSA Schedule, 874-4, for custom on-site training:
GSA Contract GS02F0192X.

TheCapitol.Net has more than 2,000 clients representing congressional offices, federal and state agencies, military branches, corporations, associations, news media, and NGOs nationwide.

TheCapitol.Net is a non-partisan firm.

Our blog: Hobnob Blog—hit or miss ... give or take ... this or that ...

Non-partisan training and publications that show how Washington works.™

PO Box 25706, Alexandria, VA 22313-5706
202-678-1600 • www.thecapitol.net

TheCapitol.Net is on the
GSA Schedule, 874-4,
for custom on-site training.
GSA Contract GS02F0192X

Summary

Title III of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 (Titles I-IX of P.L. 93-344, 2 U.S.C. 601-688), as amended, contains several points of order that are used to enforce congressional budget procedures and substantive provisions of a budget resolution. These points of order prohibit certain congressional actions and consideration of certain legislation. For more information on the budget process, see the CRS Guides to Congressional Processes at <http://www.crs.gov/products/guides/guidehome.shtml>.

Contents

Procedural Points of Order.....	1
Budget Enforcement Points of Order.....	2

Contacts

Author Contact Information	2
----------------------------------	---

Title III of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 (Titles I-IX of P.L. 93-344, 2 U.S.C. 601-688), as amended, contains several points of order that are used to enforce congressional budget procedures and substantive provisions of a budget resolution.¹ These points of order prohibit certain congressional actions and consideration of certain legislation. For more information on the budget process, see the CRS Guides to Congressional Processes at <http://www.crs.gov/products/guides/guidehome.shtml>.

Budget Act points of order are not self-enforcing. In order to enforce a congressional budget rule, a Member must raise a point of order against the legislation violating it. When a point of order is raised against legislation that may violate a substantive provision of a budget resolution, a determination of whether the legislation would cause spending or revenue levels to be breached is based on estimates supplied by the Budget Committee of the appropriate chamber, under Section 312(a) of the Budget Act. Generally, when a point of order is sustained, the violating bill or amendment effectively fails and is not considered, or the violating provision of a bill or amendment is stricken.

Congress, however, may waive these points of order. In the House, a point of order may be waived by unanimous consent, by suspension of the rules, or by a special rule reported by the Rules Committee and adopted by the full House. In the Senate, Budget Act points of order may be waived by unanimous consent or by motion as provided under Section 904 of the Budget Act. A motion to waive most Budget Act points of order requires an affirmative vote of three-fifths of all Senators duly chosen and sworn (60 votes if there are no vacancies). Congress may consider and pass legislation even if it violates the provisions of a budget resolution if no point of order is made or an applicable point of order is waived.

Procedural Points of Order

One of the primary objectives of the Budget Act is to require Congress to adopt a comprehensive budget plan prior to considering budgetary legislation. In this way, Congress can ensure that individual measures will fit into the overall plan. Section 303(a) of the Budget Act serves this purpose by providing a point of order against consideration of any legislation that includes spending, revenue, or debt-limit adjustments, until a budget resolution has been approved. Section 303(b), however, provides that this point of order does not apply to appropriations bills in the House after May 15.

Another purpose of the Budget Act is to encourage Congress to complete action on appropriations bills and other budgetary legislation prior to the start of the fiscal year on October 1. Sections 309 and 310(f) provide points of order in the House prohibiting an adjournment resolution exceeding three calendar days in July until all the annual appropriations bills for the upcoming fiscal year and any required reconciliation legislation, respectively, are completed.

In addition to these timing points of order, the Budget Act provides points of order restricting the scope of certain budget-related legislation. Section 305 of the Budget Act prohibits the consideration of non-germane amendments to a budget resolution and, by reference in Section 310(e) of the Budget Act, to a reconciliation measure. Also, the Budget Act provides a point of order, under Section 306, to limit consideration of issues within the jurisdiction of the Budget Committees.

¹ This report does not discuss points of order established by other portions of the Budget Act. For more detailed information on points of order related to the congressional budget process, see CRS Report 97-865, Points of Order in the Congressional Budget Process, by (name redacted).

Budget Enforcement Points of Order

The Budget Act also provides several points of order designed to constrain legislation affecting the budget. Sections 302(f) and 311(a) of the Budget Act provide points of order to enforce the spending and revenue levels associated with the most recently adopted budget resolution. Specifically, any measure or amendment that would cause the committee or appropriations subcommittee allocations, under Sections 302(a) and 302(b), respectively, to be violated is subject to a point of order. Similarly, the aggregate spending and revenue levels contained in a budget resolution are enforced under Section 311(a). However, Section 311(c) provides that, in the House, measures would be subject to this point of order only if they also would cause the relevant committee allocations to be exceeded.

If a budget resolution includes reconciliation directives, the Budget Act provides points of order relating to the consideration of the subsequent reconciliation bill. Section 310(d) of the Budget Act prohibits the consideration of any amendment that would increase the deficit. In addition, in the Senate only, Section 313 (known as the Byrd rule) of the Budget Act prohibits provisions in reconciliation legislation or its conference report, as well as amendments, that are extraneous. Under the Byrd rule, extraneous matters include, among others, those that have no direct budgetary effect, increase spending or decrease revenue when a committee is not in compliance with its reconciliation instructions, or that would increase the deficit (or reduce the surplus) for a fiscal year beyond those covered by the reconciliation legislation.

The Senate also uses points of order under the Budget Act to restrict changes to the Social Security program. First, a budget resolution that would decrease the Social Security surplus is subject to a point of order under Section 301(i) of the Budget Act. Second, a point of order under Section 310(g) may be raised against a reconciliation bill that contains recommendations relating to the Social Security program; this point of order applies in the House as well. Lastly, Section 311(a)(3) provides a point of order against any legislation that would cause Social Security surpluses to decrease or deficits to increase relative to the levels set forth in a budget resolution.

Author Contact Information

(name redacted)
Analyst on the Congress and Legislative Process
/redacted/@crs.loc.gov, 7-....

Learn how Capitol Hill really works

All of our programs and any combination of their topics can be tailored for on-site training for your organization.

For more than 35 years, TheCapitol.Net and its predecessor, Congressional Quarterly Executive Conferences, have been teaching professionals from government, military, business, and NGOs about the dynamics and operations of the legislative and executive branches and how to work with them.

Our custom, on-site training and publications include congressional operations, legislative and budget process, communication and advocacy, media and public relations, research, testifying before Congress, legislative drafting, critical thinking and writing, and more.

- Diverse Client Base—We have tailored hundreds of custom on-site training programs for Congress, numerous agencies in all federal departments, the military, law firms, lobbying firms, unions, think tanks and NGOs, foreign delegations, associations and corporations, delivering exceptional insight into how Washington works.™
- Experienced Program Design and Delivery—We have designed and delivered hundreds of custom programs covering congressional/legislative operations, budget process, media training, writing skills, legislative drafting, advocacy, research, testifying before Congress, grassroots, and more.
- Professional Materials—We provide training materials and publications that show how Washington works. Our publications are designed both as course materials and as invaluable reference tools.
- Large Team of Experienced Faculty—More than 150 faculty members provide independent subject matter expertise. Each program is designed using the best faculty member for each session.
- Non-Partisan—TheCapitol.Net is non-partisan.
- GSA Schedule—TheCapitol.Net is on the GSA Schedule, 874-4, for custom on-site training: GSA Contract GS02F0192X.

Please see our Capability Statement on our web site at TCNCS.com.

Custom training programs are designed to meet your educational and training goals, each led by independent subject-matter experts best qualified to help you reach your educational objectives and align with your audience.

As part of your custom program, we can also provide classroom space, breaks and meals, receptions, tours, and online registration and individual attendee billing services.

For more information about custom on-site training for your organization, please see our web site: TCNCustom.com or call us: 202-678-1600, ext 115.

TheCapitol.Net

Non-partisan training and publications that show how Washington works.™

PO Box 25706, Alexandria, VA 22313-5706
202-678-1600 • www.thecapitol.net

TheCapitol.Net is on the
GSA Schedule, 874-4,
for custom on-site training.
GSA Contract GS02F0192X

Useful Links

Congress by the Numbers

CongressByTheNumbers.com

Leadership of Congress

CongressLeaders.com

Congressional Schedule

CongressSchedules.com

Congress Seating Charts

CongressSeating.com

Terms and Sessions of Congress

TermsofCongress.com

Senate Classes: Terms of Service

SenateClasses.com

Congressional Glossary

CongressionalGlossary.com

You have 2 cows

YouHave2Cows.com

